CS5 Deployment Component Reference

Component –Payload Mapping

This document contains a table that correlates payloads in Adobe® Creative Suite® 5 product install folders with the applications and components to which they belong. The payload list and the component list is derived from the CS5 Master Collection product. Other CS5 products will contain some subset of these payloads and components.

The table has five columns:

- ▶ The first column “Component” contains the name of an application or component as it appears in the Setup or deployment toolkit interface. These names are roughly in alphabetical order; where this order is violated, it is to keep related components together.

In order to make it easier to find the components by name, and to save space in the table, all “CS5” qualifiers and any leading “Adobe” have been dropped from the component names. For example, “Adobe After Effects® CS5” is shown as “After Effects”.

- ▶ The second column “Type” lists whether the item in the first column is a primary CS5 application, a shared component, a supporting component, or some other type that is not listed as a discrete named entity by Setup or the toolkit.
- ▶ The third column “Component Description” contains a concise description of the component’s functionality.
- ▶ The fourth column “Payload” lists the names of any payloads whose content implements this component. If a payload is platform-specific, its name is followed by either (Windows) or (Mac). If a payload has neither designation, it appears on both platforms.
- ▶ The fifth column “Payload Description” contains additional information about the payloads, such as whether they are required or optional, and for which applications.
